

Kentucky Center for Mathematics

PLE Name Updates

July 1, 2016

Throughout the past 10 years, the Kentucky Center for Mathematics has experienced substantial growth across our professional learning experience offerings. With more offerings being made available each year, we are pleased to inform you that the names of our professional learning experiences have changed to create a more cohesive and simplified structure.

This new naming structure will officially go in to place on July 1, 2016.

A reference chart (below) detailing the updated name changes has been created for your convenience. Please note, the chart below contains only those professional learning experiences which have experienced a name change. It does not reflect the complete list of KCM professional learning experience being offered. To view a full list of KCM professional learning experience being offered, please click here.
